side to the other. After going through, the Devil's Hole, the Perro swung toward the rocks on the American side of the river, rolled over one boulder and went fast between two others. There Larsen stayed for five minutes, 40 feet from shore, working desperately to release the craft.

Getting free, he was hit by a comber and went careening towards the middle. At the bend with the Lewiston bridge in sight, the boat drifted toward the American side again, and was then caught in the shore eddy. The Ferrogrounded again, this time near shore, to be caught by Roy Rockwell of this etty, who waded into the water and caught a rope thrown by Larsen.

Larsen wanted to continue the trip, but having accomplished the worst part of the fourney he was persuaded to board a trolley to Lewiston, setting the boat adrift.

"The trip was worse than I thought it would be," said Larsen, "but I am not hurt and I will do it again some time with another boat. My leg was jammed when she tipped ever, but that's all. The engine worked line through the rapids and I could have made the trip in half an hour if it had not stopped after leaving the whilpoot."

Except the old Maid of the Mist sent through in 1864 to avoid seizure, Larsen's is the only engine-propelied craft to have gone through the rapids. Peter Nissen, Chicago, 1909, and C. A. Percy, 1887 and 1901, are the only men who took boats through and lived. k boats through and lived.

Brilliant Opening

Thousands of Women and Men espond to Keith-O'Brien's Invitation to Visit the Store.

The Most Extensive Event Witnessed in Salt Lake. Living Models a Feature. Exquisite Displays; Decorations; Music. Two Hours Enjoyably Spent Where Fashion Reigns Supreme-Opening Will be Continued

Keen interest attaches to the big modern store. Men reluctantly hurry to a' store when occasion demands, make purchases and quickly leave. They know little of the intricacies of a store's system, yet recognize that a master thought directs; that men and women subordinates, specialists in many instances, execute orders; that a vast force of women and girls are part of the splendid scheme necessary to the conduct of a large business noted for its mastery of detail. Men familiar with business comprehend and admire.

the conduct of a large business noted for its mastery of detail. Men familiar with business comprehend and admire. Women, on the other hand, caring naught for the science of organization, are influenced by an atmosphere of tone, by character of merchandise and by the excellence of service. Their frequent presence there, contact with the employes and familiarty with goods carired account for an absorption of the spirit of the store. In a great store a formal opening is an occasion of moment, Men note and wonder; women eagerly await. The Keith-o'Erien festivties coming in the evening it was women's delight to invelgie their bushands into the vortex where style is expounded.

The thousands of men and women who were in attendance at the brilliant opening were ufforded two hours of genuine interest, enjoyment and pleasurable observation. Men viewed and marveled, their thoughts reverting to the complex details of the workings of such a large tastilution.

Women felt the dramatic spirit—people in countless numbers, breathing, living, animated—saw everywhere exhibited the handiwork of nations—yearned to examine and leisurely enjoy the thousands of visible things—felt the thrill of seeing Paris reflected in living models. Thus from different viewpoints the visitors saw and noted. Everywhere rare creations of art, mechanical outputs and hand wrought goods; apparel and fabrics grouped and draped to set off to full advantage their exquisite beauty and charm. Broad aisles througed, a cheery concourse; magnificent decorations, the glow of subdued light and soft, floating music—altogether a thrilling picture.

Does Not Think That the Plans for Economy Should Preclude Their Construction.

Beverly, Mass., Sept. 18.-Before leaving Beverly for Boston tonight President Taft announced that in his message to Congress in December, he will recommend the appropriation o $2,000,000 to begin the work of fortify ing the Panama canal. The president also will recommend to Congress that provision be made for two new battleships of the dreadnought type, Mr. Tart does not believe that the economy plans should preclude the construction of at least two battlesnips a year until such time as the Panama canal is completed. He believes the canal will have the effect of doubling the efficiency of the navy and that after it is in operation the building of new battleships can be cut down to one a year. The president will reach Washington next Sunday. The cabinet will begin a series of daily meetings on the morning of Monday, the 26th. Seey. Ballinger, it is said, will attend all the meetings and so far as Beverly is informed, the Ballinger case will not be taken up. Taft does not believe that the economy formed, the Ballinger case will not be taken up.

Economy in administration in all departments will be one of the many subjects considered by the cabinet. Estimates for the coming fiscal year also will be considered. The supreme court appointments will be considered with his cabinet advisers, although the president has announced that he will not make these apointments until Congress meets.

NEW YORK SALOONKEEPER BUILDS "SPITE" CHURCH

New York, Sept. 19.—New York has a "spite" church, erected, it is said, as the result of the business rivalry of two saloonkeepers in the Bronx. The church, a little wooden building, was opened for worship yesterday with a congregation of 30 persons.

For some time the liquor trade in the neighborhood has been divided between two saloonkeepers, whose business rivalry has been keen. There is a state law which forbids the keeping of a saloon within 200 feet of a church. of a saloon within 200 feet of a church One of the saloonkeepers, it is said decided that there could be no more effective way of putting a rival out of business than building a church near enough to him to compel him to close when his license ran out property upon which the church is built and in which the new congregation will praybelongs to the saloonkeeper and was donated by him for the purpose. The other liquor man asserts that the struc-ture was plainly erected to force him ture was plainly erected to force him out of business, and he is angry. He declares that he will retailate by taking steps to build another church on property owned by a relative within 200 feet of his rival's door. The result may be that both men will be forced out of business.

The mission authorities who are in charge of the new house of worship declined to be drawn into the controversy.

'We shall conduct the church along our regular lines," said the pastor, "without thought of any controversy, with which we have nothing to do."
